

April 9, 2010

Dear Prospective Bidders:

Cooper Engineering Company, Inc. has begun a partnership with Quest Construction Data Network. This is a web based initiative that will deliver our construction project advertisements, planholders lists, and bid documents to you in a more timely and cost effective way. Project advertisements on QuestCDN and in the project's local newspapers will include the Quest project number you'll need to access the electronic bid documents. Current projects advertisement for bids, planholders lists, and bid tabulations will also be shown on our company website.

Benefits of the electronic delivery of bid documents from QuestCDN include:

- You may become a member of QuestCDN without cost. You only pay for the bid documents you download.
- Paper copies of bid documents will be made available from our office for the foreseeable future.
- Bid documents will be delivered in the Adobe PDF format so there is no software investment required, just the free Adobe Acrobat Reader program.
- You can print just the pages you need, helping to reduce paper waste.
- If addenda are issued, you will automatically be notified by e-mail to return to the website to access them. Addenda may be downloaded without cost.
- Planholder lists and project bid results will be available on the QuestCDN website.

You may contact QuestCDN at (952) 233-1632 or email them at info@questcdn.com with any questions regarding free membership registration, downloading, or working with the digital bid documents.

Sincerely,

COOPER ENGINEERING COMPANY, INC.

Bruce Markgren, P.E.
President